LITRUDER TIED HANDS AND FEET

Then Secured Her to a Sewing Machine-Fearing for Her Life the Terrified Woman Gave the Assailant $75.0C.

Mrs. Eugene Hugenschmidt, wife of a salesman for Peter Pehl, was tied and threatened with her life then robbed of $75 between 10 and 11 o'clock Saturday night at her home, 721 West Fourth street.

The money stolen was all in the house and was secreted in one of Hugenschmidt's stockings. Threatened that she would be killed if she refused to give up the money, she complied with the robber's re-

Shortly after 10 o'clock Mrs. Hugenschmidt, who had been up town in company with Mrs. Will DeBold and Mrs. Dan Byard and little daughter, returned home, making the trip a portion of the way by herself.

She noticed a stranger who appeared to be following her, but para little attention to the man, thinking that perhaps he was returning to his home on that street.

After entering her residence Mrs Hugenschmidt prepared to retire,

Mrs. Hugenschmidt attempted to close the door, but the stranger had succeeded in gaining entrance. The man requested her again to give up her money, to which she replied a second time that she had none.

This angered the stranger, who in the meantime had ransacked the bureau drawers, and seizing hold of Mrs. Hugenschmidt he securely tied both feet with a string necktie, lying

SOCIALISTS AND UTOPIA.

If the parlor socialists would tell us just what they wish the community to do it would be easier for us to distinguish between them and communists, anarchists and miscellaneous undesirable citizens.

Of course, they wish every one to be perfectly comfortable, if not rich. They may not go as far as a labor member of the English parlia One year..... 1.00 ment, who predicts champagne The Sunday and weekly issues are and turtle soup for all, but they wish all to have plenty of Address all communications on bus food and clothes and nice houses, with gardens around them; not more than eight and preferaly six hours work a day; Saturdays as well as Sundays off; two weeks' vacation a year, and means enough to spend them at Atlantic City or Palm Beach, and a nice little competence to re tire on when about 60 years old.

But we all wish everybody to have this amount of comfort and more also. We are all trying to reach that point. More of us are attaining it now than ever before. Still, we are all dissatisfied that the community advances so slowly to a state of universal comfort.

The parlor socialists, says the Philadelphia Record, are abusive of society, the church, modern civiliza tion and the industrial system for not having achieved the beautifica tion of humanity, and we ask them just what should be done, in their opinion, to accelerate the coming of the millenium.

Some of them advocate the public ownership of land. The substitution of the state for private land owning would substitute rent for taxes and might do a great deal for the produc ing class. But how is the land to be acquired? By confiscation or purchase? And the railroads and the factories and all other instruments of production-how is it proposed that the state shall acquire them, and is any governmental business carried on better than private business is, so that we may look forward to honest and efficient administration of all the public utilities and instruments of production when the socialist program shal have been estab

Let the socialists give us a definite program or confess that they are visionaries, or admit that they are practicably indistinguishable from the communists and anarchists with whom they are often confused.

There is to be no pruning of the tariff unless grafting is allowed at the same time. A little pruning and a great deal of grafting is the idea of the friends of the tariff. They call this the non-partisan method.

Likely Be Opposition to Mr. Bryan in New Jersey and Connecticui-The Fight on Senator J. W. Bailey.

Washington, April 25.-Next week will be the busiest since the 1908 campaign was opened, if the number cf state conventions to be held throughout the country affords any criterion. While most of these gatherings may be safely forecasted, as to their presidential preferences, a few surprises are likely to develop.

for Monday, there will be several important meetings and banquets of a political nature in various parts of the country. Grant's birthday will be observed by many patriotic bodies in the larger cities of the land.

One of the most important of these will be the Grant day dinner in Pittsburg, when Senator P. C. Knox, Pennsylvania's candidate for the presidency, will deliver the principal address. Secretary Taft will begin the week in Connecticut, and on Tuesday will go to New York, where he will speak before the Civic Forum. He has chosen for his subject on this occasion "The Influence of America on Popular Government in the World."

The Independence league will hold its second annual banquet in New York on Monday evening, and it is expected that William Randolph Hearst will take advantage of the occasion to announce some of the plans of his new political organizalect delegates at large to Chicago, will be held on Tuesday in Arkansas, Colorado and South Carolina, while the fleet have been going forward, republican primaries will be held in New Jersey and the District of Columbia. Democratic state conventions, at which the Denver delegations will be selected, are to be held on the same day in New Jersey and Cornect-

The Colorado convention will be held in Pueblo, and is certain to in struct its delegates for Secretary Taft. While some of the negro voters of Arakansas are opposed to Taft, it is almost certain that the Hot Springs convention will also go on record as favoring the war secretary. Similar conditions exist in South Carolina, where most of the white reorblicans look upon Taft as the logical successor of President Roosevelt. The primaries in New Jersey and the District of Columbia are also likely to be to Taft's advantage in the presidential race. William Jennings Bryan will likely find lively opposition in both of the democratic state conventions to be held on Tuesday, that of New Jersey in Trenton and of Connecticut in New Haven. A majority of the democratic voters of New Jersey are thought to favor an uninstructed delegation to Denver. Both Judge Gray and Governor Johnson have many admirers in New Jersey and they will fight any out all about Alabastine attempt to pledge the state delegation to the Nebraska statesman. In Con-Call at our store and necticut, too, there is considerable opposition to Bryan, which may result in an unpledged delegation. Five republican state conventions will be held on Wednesday, that of Pennsylvania at Harrisburg, Vermont at Burlington, Mississippi at Jackson, West Virgnia at Parkersburg and the Davidson faction of Alabama at Birminghant.

Pennsylvania's convention will be notable as marking the formal launching of the presidential boom of Senator Philander C. Knox. Taft will probably receive the indorsement of the Vermont convention and that of West Virginia. Mississippi's delegation will likely be uninstructed, but favorable to Taft, since the administration forces are apparently in conrol of the situation.

The Alabama convention will be that of the Davidson, or anti-Roosevelt faction, and will probably support Foraker. The Roosevelt faction in Alabama will hold a convention later, and there will be contesting delegations from Alabama to the Cnicago convention.

The Maryland republican state convention will be held in Baltimore on Thursday, and while the delegation may be left uninstructed, it will doubtless swing into line for Taft when the roll is called at the national convention.

The Maine convention, which will be held in Portland on the same day, is also claimed by the Taft adherents, although this is denied it other quarters. North Carolina's white republicans are Taft boomers, almost to a man, and the state convention

YBESOMESURPRISES in Greensboro is expected to take action which will result in a Taft delegation to Chicago.

> Two Taft delegates will be elected to represent Alaska in the republican national convention, in a territorial convention to be held in Ketchiken next Saturday.

Another important political event! scheduled for next Saturday is the special democratic primary in Texas, when the primalpalequestion to be de cided is whether United Staes Senator J. W. Bailey will be sent to Denver as one of the representatives of the Lone Star state in the national

The anti-Bailey campaign has been carried on with great bitterness, and the result, which will go far toward deciding the political fate of the brilliant Texas senator, is eagerly awaited in the national capital.

A crowd of joyous visitors such as has never before gathered on the streets of this little city is on hand and every passing hour adds to the happy throngs that will give a tumultous greeting to the ships of the mighty fleet when they anchor off Santa Barbara this afternoon.

The local committees have spared no expense in making the stay of the officers and sailors here one of the most pleasant of the entire voyage, and between now and next Thursday, when the ships will resume the northward journey, many thousands of dollars will be expended in providing entertainments for the tars.

What Santa Barbara lacks in size, t makes up in enthusiasm, and it is entirely likely that the sea fighters will look back upon their visit to Santa Barbara as one of the notable experiences of the long cruise.

"TICKLE END" OF A FEATHER ALMOST CAUSES RIOT IN A CAB.

THE DRIVER WENT TO THE RESCUE

Miss Josie Cusic, Who Operates Linotype at Marion, Ohio, Had a Remarkable Experience on Trip Yesterday.

Marion, Ohio, April 25 .- Miss Josie Cusic, a pretty Marion linotype operator, claims to possess the champion "Merry Widow" hat. Yesterday Miss Cusic visited Columbus.

She returned home on a late train. By tilting her head. Miss Cusic confesses, she was able to squeeze through the door of a cab, but when she raised her head some of the trimmings on the upper deck scraped against the roof.

She gave a nervous jerk and in doing so jabbed one of the big quills into the eye of a "drummer."

When Miss Cusic was turning to beg the pardon of the unfortunate salesman, the "tickle end" of the feather connected with the ear of another traveling man, who gave a sudden bound and smashed one of the cab windows.

Finally Miss Cusic, who says she is not a bit ashamed of her "Merry carriage works, being in the employ widow," removed half a dozen spikes of that firm for eight years, has as- from among the shrubbery and feasociated himself with E. GUERNSEY DISCUSSES POLITICS IN ENTERTAIN-ING MANNER.

ARE TO DEMOLISH AN OLD HOTEL

Was Opened in 1840-Catholics to Begin a Week's Celebration Tomorrow.

By Glen Guernsey.

New York, April 25.-Real news is scarce in our midst this week. Therefore, I will write about politics. That subject is a source of never-failing interest to the New Yorker. The average citizen of the metropolis Without having any natural means talks more and knows less about politics than any other man in this Calls you by your full name our great country. Compared with him, the bucolic argufier of the country store becomes a modest, unassuming and uncommunicative Sphinx.

> is not due to lack of opportunity. No sooner does a prospective candidate feel the office-seeking afflatus than he hires a hall and proceeds to un loosen great gobs of wisdom. New York account of himself in a competition with the present contestants, on Wheeler Wilcox, as the presidential candidate of the New Thought party standing firmly on a platform which guarantees health and happiness to every citizen, would, I predict, make any mere man who had the temerity to run against her look like a snail. And there are others.

But it is too much to expect the politician to jump into the river of oblivion, merely because such an action has been suggested as des'rable. Therefore, I am inclined to look with favor upon the plan of a New York newspaper man, George E. McDonald, who has advanced the proposition that the citizen should be allowed to vote against all candidates for any office, if he desires. If a majority thus expressed their displeasure with the aspirants for any office, a new shuffle and another deal would become necessary. But that is only another method of inviting our professional statesmen to commit political suicide, and it is not likely to meet with a favorable reception.

Demolish Old Hotel. Next week will probably mark the beginning of the destruction of another of New York's ancient hotels, the old Sinclair House, at Broadway and Eighth street. The old edifice, in which many of the great of past generations have dined and slept, will make way for a modern commercial structure. It was opened as a roadhouse in 1840, and was largely frequented by the gay young blades and beautiful dames of that time, who visited the hostelry in order to par take of the canvasbacks, terapin and turtle soup for which its chef was Paris, April 25.-The body of Duke De Chaulnes was conveyed at daylight today from the hotel to St. Phillip's church. It was escorted to the crypt, and, after a simple blessing. it was then deposited. The bcdy will remain in St. Phillip's pending the completion of the arrangements for the funeral.

False reports that the duke died in his sister's apartments arose from a desire of the management of the hotel to make it appear that the death had not occurred in their establish-

Unfortunately, through the stupidity of the hotel employes, several false reports about the manner of the duke's death were circulated in Paris. One was that he died some where else and that his body had been brought to the hotel.

At the Avenue Van Dyck mansion. where the duke and duchess were to go, the housekeeper was in attendance last night.

"It's an ill fated race, that of De Chaulnes," she said.

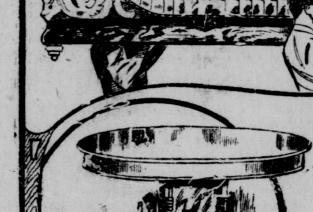

The woman, for years a family retainer, recalled the tragic death of the duke's mother, who eloped with the Count de Dion, now a marquis, and was deserted. She died of starvation in a garret.

"Our only hope is that there will be an heir born to the title."

Deeply Shocked By the Sad News. New York, April 25.-The news of the death of his young son-in-law came as a great shock to Theodore P. Shonts. The financier had a great affection for the boyish nobleman, and declared him "a splendid, manly, capable chap." Mr. and Mrs. Shonts and their younger daughter started for Paris today on the steamship St.

"This morning." said Shonts last night, "we received three letters from my daughter and the duke. They had been in the habit of writing us on every mail, and each of us, Mrs. Shonts, my daughter, Marguerite, and myself had our letters as usual this morning. We read them over to one another as we breakfasted. If ever any letters breathed of domestic love and happiness, those letters did. When we had finished them and I had put mine down I said to my wife: 'Mother, they're all right, aren't they? If a man can make our girl as happy as that, why, I'll stick to him, for he's a good fellow.

THE NEW YORK HERALD OFFERS CARL ARNOLD A FINE STAFF POSITION.

DUITE LIKELY HE WILL ACCEPT

Pcem Secured the Commutation of His Sentence by Gov. Hoch-Sent to Prison for Murdering Mayor of Town.

Leavenworth, Kas. April 25 -- Carl Arnold, a convict at the Kansas state business college, Saturday accepted a penitentiary, whose sentence was re-1200d position with E. T. Thomson, the cently commuted by Governor, Hoch, real estate dealer. and whose case attracted wide attention because of a poem written by the convict having been the cause of the executive clemency, will profit greatly by the prominence into which he sprang so suddenly. He has been offered a position as staff writer on the New York Herald and has about decided to accept the offer as seen as his term expires, which will be in less than a year.

He is still working in the twine tactory, where he was placed after the prison officials learned that he had secretly written and published a book called "The Kansas Inferno." The book was widely read and commented upon throughout the state. Previous to that time he had a snap as librarian. In fact, it was this job that gave him the opportunity to write the book and several good poems he has written. His partner in crime was William Harvey. They murdered the mayor of Kingsley. Kas., eighteen years ago. The sentences of both were commuted and the history of the cases, together with Arnold's poems were printed all over the state and in eastern papers. As a result both of the convicts received hundreds of letters from all over the country, mostly from sentimental women.

the convicts something; others offered them jobs at the expiration of their sentences and still others wanted to marry the convicts. A grass widow ir Kansas City was most insistent among the latter. The "deal" was bidding fair to come to a consummation, and Arnold's mother was so favorably impressed with the w dow's letters that she went to Kansas City to see her, and give her Arnold's datest message The widow took offense at what she termed maternal interference and called the deal off. Others have promised to be waiting at the gates when the prisoners are released (probably) some of them will be left waiting at the church). The offer from the New York paper is genuine and Arnold has a splendid opening. Harvey has not yet decided what he will do when

Chapter I .-- The Escapade opens, not in the romance preceding the marriage of Ellen Slocum, a Puritan miss, and Lord Carrington, of England, but in their life after settling in England. The scene is placed just following the revolution, in Carrington castle in England. The Carringtons, after a house party, engaged in a family tilt, caused by jealousy.

Chapter II .-- Lord Carrington and his wife each made charges of faithlessness against the other in continu ation of the quarrel.

Chapter III.—First objecting against playing cards with the guests, Lady Carrington agreed to cut cards with Lord Strathgate, whose attentions to Ellen had become a sore point with Carrington. The loss of $100,000 failed to perturb her, and her husband then cut for her I. O. U. and his honor, Carrington winning. The incident closed, except that a liking for each other apparently rose between Lady Carrington and Lord Strath. gate.

Chapter IV.—Additional attentions of Lord Carrington to Lady Cecilly and Lord Strathgate to Lady Carring ton compelled the latter to vow that she would leave the castle.

Chapter V.—Preparing to flee, Ladv Carrington and her chum, Deborah, an American girl, met Lord Strath gate at 2 a. m., he agreeing to see them safely away.

Chapter VI.-Ellen fled, Strathgate driving. He attempted to take her to his castle, but she left him stunned in the road when the carriage meets with an accident. She and Deborah then struck out for Portsmouth, where she intended to sail for Ameri-

Chapter VII.—Hearing news of Ellen's flight, Lord Carrington and Seton set out in pursuit.

Chapter VIII.—Seton, locating a fishing village, hit the trail of Ellen and Debbie. He then rented a fast vessel and started in pursuit, Carrington pursuing Strathgate.

Chapter IX-Strathgate, bleeding from fall, dashed on to Portsmouth, for which Carrington, Elle nand Seton also were headed by different routes.

Chapter X-Strathgate arrived in Portsmouth in advance of the others, finding that Ellen's ship had railed before her.

Chapter XI-- Strathgate and Carrington each hired a small yacht to pursue the wrong vessel, upon which each supposed Ellen had sailed.

Chapter XII-Seton overtook the fugitives near Portsmouth, but his craft ran aground just as capture was imminent.

Chapter XIII-Ellen won the chase by boarding an American vessel and foiling her pursuers-Strathgate, Seton and Carrington.

Carrington and Strathgate, thrown together by the former wrecking the latter's vessel, engaged in an in- hand he asked: promptu duel, neither being hurt.

CHAPIER XIV. Admiral Kephard Joins the Pursuit. We left Sir Charles Seton hard and fast in his boat on the shoal. Sir Charles had nothing to do but study the ocean and observe that which transpired upon it, for a few moments of hard work convinced worthy Master Whibley that only the rising tide would float his vessel. Sir Charles saw the whole drama enacted before him. He saw Ellen run down the Flying Star; he saw that vessel's way checked; he could see Deborah followed by Ellen clamber aboard. H marked the other two boats chasing down the channel and made a shrewd guess that one carried Carrington and the other Strathgate. He saw the collision, although of course he was too far away to know who was responsible or what was happening. He even saw the smoke from the two pistols which were discharged by the belligerents on the boat and after a other than that he knew nothing.

It was some time before the rising tide coupled with their own tremen- redium grade shoes-men's, ladies final Sir Charles had had plenty of the to mature his plans. He knew that Ellen was on that ship. He guessed that Carrington and Strathgate had gone back to Portsmouth, if one or the other, or both of them had not been killed in that interchange of pistol shots, and he surmised that the first duty to which

be to see which one could kill the other. He therefore determined to chase the ship. Not in his own boat, oh, no! He had a better plan than that, ready and resourceful man was Sir Charles Seton. And while he was deep. Not far away lay the great ships of Admiral Kephard. The admiral had announced his intention of posting down to Portsmouth by coach. The first thing he would do when he ar rived would be to board his flagship which lay at the head of the line of a dozen little ships several miles away from the place where Si Charles had taken ground. . had taken refuge. This ship headed steadily eastward and seemed to have settled down for a long voyage. It took but a short time for Sir Charles to run alongside the Britannia. Bidding the men wait for him, lady, boy?" he scrambled up the battens to the gangway and stepped aboard. An officer met him at once.

"I am Sir Charles Seton," began the soldier, "captain in the Sussex light infantry.

"I am pleased to see you, sir," answered the officer, courteously, extending his hand. "I am Lieutenant Collier of the royal navy."

"After you, sir," said Sir Charles, bowing and following the lieutenant until he was ushered past the marine orderly on duty and into the admiral's cabin.

The admiral was just completing his toilet. His body servant was helping him on with his coat. He had evidently just had a bath to refresh him after the fatigues of his journey.

"Oh, Seton," he cried as the other came in, "glad to see you, man. Sit down. John,"-to the servant-"fetch out a decanter of navy sherry. Whisky, Seton, whisky, although per-enough," continued the old soldier, "to command a frigate. You will never convince me that she's taken up with a man of Strathgate's caliber." "She went away with him, though," said Seton thoughtfully. "Ay ay, but she knows no more of the world than a baby. She simply made use of his proffered assistance to escape from an intolerable situation. You take me, Seton?"

"I do, admiral, and I confess I hardly blame her. How Carrington could tolerate Lady Cecily for a moment beside that splendid woman-"

CAUSED BY HUMORS IN THE BLOOD

The skin is provided with countless pores and glands, through which an evaporation is going on continually, day and night. This is nature's method of regulating the temperature of our bodies, and prescrying the natural appearance of the skin. These peres and glands and connected with tiny veins and arteries through which they receive, from the blood, the necessary nourishment and strength to preserve their healthy condition, and enable them to perform this duty.

So long as the blood is pure and rich the skin will be free from cruption or disease, but when the circulation becomes infected with acids and humors its nourishing and healthful properties are lost, and its acrid, humor-laden condition causes irritation and inflammation of Busch turned over to the postoffice the delicate tissues and fibres of the porcs and glands, and the effect is

These humors get into the condition of the system. Those and expel the refuse matter of the body fail to properly do their work, and this surplus or waste matter is ment and be absorbed into the blood. • There are also certain blood from without. The juice or milk from poisonous plants, such as poison oak, poison ivy, nettle rash, etc., enters through the open pores of the skin and takes root in the blood. This causes a breaking out which remains for a time and then disappears, but returns at certain seasons of each year.

The cause of all skin troubles can be traced to some kind of humor in the blood. Smooth, healthy skins are only possible where the circulation is pure; and therefore the cure of any skin affection can on'y come through a thorough cleansing of this vital fluid. Salves, washer, lotions, etc., are valuable only for their ability to keep the skin clean, allay the itching, and tend to reduce inflammation; they cannot correct

CRIMINALS CANNOT ESCAPE FA MOUS AUSTRALIAN "TRACKERS."

NO OTHER RACE HAS THIS 'POWER'

Dark, Being Fearful of Meeting the Bunyip, a Monster That Has Glaring Eyes.

A criminal in Australia knows that his chances for escape are nearly bopeless if a "tracker" is put upon his trail within a day after the crime is discovered. A "tracker" is a native black man having a natural instinct for running down criminals fleeing from justice. These men are veritable bloodhounds, and their strange power is possessed by other race in the world

So implicit is the confidence felt them by the police that when a black starts out upon a man hunt the officer who goes with him merely follows in his wake. He does not question him, but leading his own horse, al- of that sort. Suddenly he began unlows the guide to go in whatever di. covering the leaves and twigs be rection he pleases, no matter how apparently reasonless his course may seem, says Pearson's Weekly.

The most successful trackers are in Queensland, near the edge of New South Wales. They will travel any distance, animated by no feeling of hatred for their quarry, but only desirous of proving their expertness. The reward they ask is absurdly small for the long and difficult trails. A few shillings or some cheap bracelets, rings and so on, quite satisfies them. They have no idea of the valwe of money. Rum is their great weakness.

lation of the woods is so depressing. Then, too, the trails are deceptive, leading to a deserted wood camp beneath a foliage so dense that it is impossible even to catch a glimpse of the sky.

Darkness closes in very quickly in the mountain regions, and by nightfall the "tracker" and his employer were glad to reach an "accommodation house" (or rancher's home), where such as these were usually welcomed and allowed to put up for the night. At this house the officer tried :) hear tidings of his man, but no one had

All the next day the black fellow led along as swiftly as possible. The way was extremely rough, and mile after mile was covered through wild silences, until a stranger would surely think the guide was playing a losing game. At no time could they ride, and it was with great difficulty that they reached a sort of clearing where the horses were tied and camp struck for the night. Tearing huge strips of bark from the trees and and wrapping blankets around them each lay on the concave surface of

At noon the next day a bushman's cabin was reached and there the tired horses were tethered. The hunters then proceeded on foot. Another night in the forest and the fourth day found these intrepid hunters making their way through underbrush peculiar to Australia, called "lawyers and barristers," because its thorns and brambles catch one at every turn. Once the guide hesitated, turned back and struck off in another direction down an embankment, the rest tumbling Stamp Men. The "tracker' leaped into the river and struck out for the opposite side. Emerging upon the other bank, he ran, dripping, for twenty feet or so. following footprints that had been stopped at the water's edge.

Then the trailer paused. He was plainly puzzled. What had become of the cattle thief? Had he recressed the river or swam down as far as he could and landed on either bank, then struck into the woods again? After sharply examining the ground, the no troubled guide swam back and landed a few yards below his party. By his actions they saw that he had found the tracks again. The criminal had indeed crossed the river, but where had he gone after that?

Trust a "tracker" to solve riddles tween him and the other two men until he reached them. They were sitting beneath a high eucalyptus

"White feller no foo! black feller, he said, smiling and breathless. Then it was seen that the fugitive had carefully covered up his tracks by walking backwards.

Strange to relate, those tracks ter minated under the very tree where the party was seated. But apparently the man hunt was finished. The game had vanished into space.

The "tracker" dashed into a thicket and secured a strong pliable vine, used by the natives to scale tree trunks too smooth to climb. This he threw about the tree and began to climb it. The others looked on in astonishment. Up went the black that it was necessary to cut his way until thirty feet in the air. Women Who Wear Well.

It is astonishing how great a change a few years of married life often make in the appearance and disposition of many women. The freshness, the charm, the brilliance vanish like-the bloom from a peach which is rudely handled. The matron is only a dim shadow, a faint echo of the charming maiden. There are two reasons for this change, ignorance and neglect. Few young women appreciate the shock to the system through the change which comes with marriage and motherhood. Many neglect to deal with the unpleasant pelvic drains and weaknesses which too often come with marriage and motherhood, not understanding that this secret drain is robbing the cheek of its freshness and the form of its

MYSTERY IN DARK "LOOKOUTS" IN NUMEROUS FEDERAL BUILDINGS.

WHERE INSPECTORS HOLD FORTH

Suspended Gallery That Gives a View of All Rooms Where Men Work -Secret Entrances and Trap Doors.

Employes in the postoffice work a ways with the consciousness that perhaps they are being secretly watched from the "inspectors' lookout," a system of dark alleyways with peopholes that honeycomb the lower part of the federal building, says the Kansas City Star. The narrow galleries are suspended above the main work rooms and branches extend to the money order, stamp and registry divisions and to the furnace rooms in the basement, where rifled mail may ce burn-

Every precaution is taken to prevent the clerks from knowing when he inspectors are on watch. The men have no way of being certain whether the lookout is empty, whether one inspector is watching or whether a dozen are on duty. Always there is the possibility that someone is looking. This produces a valuable moral effect.

The lookout may be entered from the basement and That no skin disease, whether from several trapdoor entrances are prointernal or external origin, can long vided. Every part of the building where postoffice employes work is "covered" by a lookout. The gallery is four feet wide inside and seven feet high. No one is permitted to enter the passage ways except post- Louis, Mc. ney, of Warrensburg, at the weekly office inspectors. meeting of the Nehemgar club Friday

The lookout is most in use imme diately after a complaint has been re ceived that mail has been storen in the office. The work of the inspectors requires great patience. Sometimes the vigil is maintained several days or even weeks before the thief tion sooner or later.

Inspectors proceed on the well founded theory that a thief who once has purloined a letter will repeat the offense and continue to steal until at length he has been caught in the act. New boldness comes with each perprudent and is caught. The watch tower with its dozens of port holes and with the possibility of inspectors watching is not enough to deter some men from stealing.

Experienced inspectors in watching from the lookout are able to detect many tell-tale signs that direct suspicions toward a dishonest employe. The movements of a thief, wire has not yet been discovered, are often enough to put the inspectors or the right track at once.

SIMPLIFYING the SEARCH for "SOMEBODY!"

THE MERCHANT knows that every article in his store is a bargain for SOMEBODY—for somebody who lives in his store-territory.

The real estate operator and agent know that every piece of property on their list is a "bargain" for SOMEONE-for someone who lives here, or hereabouts.

The landlord knows that his tenantless store, or effice, or house, or apartment is exactly what SOMEBODY is looking forsomebody who MAY live actually in the neighborhood.

The householder, with a furnished room to rent, knows that to SOMEONE in town it would appeal as the prettiest "one-room home" possible to find.

The owner of a "used but useful" article of value, no longer personally needed, knows that, to SOMEBODY in town the chance to buy it at a reasonable cash price would be welcome.

> For all these people, advertising in this newspaper affords the only practical way to find their especial "somebodies"—to go into the crowd and pick out, unerringly the virs. Humphrey Ward, the Great English Novelist, Makes Some Suggestions That Are Worthy o! Consideration.

BY MRS. HUMPHREY WARD. Exclusive Service From Charities and The Commons Press Bureau. New York, April 25.-There are two des to play, the making, contriving, illing side-and the co-operative de. In the first the child is the ing of its world, exercising its tin vill on all that is smaller and leebler an it. In the second it is learning give and take, to yield that it may et, to obey that it may triumph. The rst is the earliest. A child who is ressing, undressing, schooling, pet ing, bullying its dolls, is all the time harpening its own personality trengthening its own sense of power saw an amusing instance of this in my own grandchild a few weeks ago took her a large doll which wa supposed to stand on its feet. Bu the doll was top-heavy, the weight o her head pulled her down and she constantly fell over. A friend stand ing by, said, laughing, "The doll's ot too much brains, Mary." Mary mmediately straightened herself or her two strong legs and with a glance of contempt at the doll, said with in describable jubilation, "I've got no brains; I can stand." The inferences were rather topsy-turvy, but the tri mph was complete.

So much for the development o personality. Next comes, as we all know, the discipline of personalityand here it is that all combined and co-operative play is so invaluable But no need to dwell upon this. has been condensed in that saving which, at any rate, we all like to at tribute to the Duke of Wellington, as to the playing fields of Eton. There is nothing that the richer classes value so much as this aspect of play for their children. We all know wha it means for character, for physica development, for health of mind and body. The children of the rich are now perhaps overdone with toysoverdone with games. Here we have to guard against excess and exagger ation. But the children of the poor have still to enter on their true her itage of play. And here I think one may say that America has led the way. Your vacation schools, your or ganized playgrounds have been teach ing us all-yourselves first, other na tions next. What are the opportuni ties lying dominant in the play-hour of children. We have borrowed vaca bumper one this year. Shipments tion schools from you. I wish with will be started on a targe scale with- all my heart we in England could bor row your Evening Play Centers. Bu The fields in the vicinity of Logan, ! think we have something now going

> For what we want is not merely holiday provision, not merely an o asional provision; we want a dail and familiar alternative, for th children of the poor, to the life of the street, with its physical and mora danger, and we want to use the pur lie schools for that purpose. A least, that is my own experience.

don't know from experience wha your streets may be like as pla, places for children-but I can tel you something of our own. Of course the districts of London vary greatlybut take this testimony from a schoo master in Hoxton, one of the poor dis tricts of London.

This man of twenty years' experi ence writes to me that for a large number of the children 'a his schoo the word "home" has no meaning. "h will w'ite only what I have seen and come in contact with during my twen ty-two years as a teacher in Hexton Many of the families live in one room and often during the whole of the evening the children are huddled together there, in this one ill-lit and eadly ventilated room. Father very soon goes out and probably mother; result—the children wait until they return, before going to bed. A hard case is that where the mother goes to work and returns perhaps at 8 p. m. or later. Children cannot be trusted indoors, they therefore play in the streets. If they are allowed indoors they must not have a light-it would be dangerous and also expensive They naturally, therefore, seek the streets, where they play or huidle together 'until mother comes home.'

"Many a plan is here laid for petty theft. The smaller ones are encouraged to beg from shopkeepers, and often are compelled by the older ones to steal from the shops whilst they. the older ones, wait round the corner. have seen twenty children of all ages playing outside a public house for hours, amid sights which cender EAL REMEDY TO COUNTERACT them callous. If it rain, they seek a sheltered side street, and play there to the accompaniment of virulent houses. My experience of London children is that they do not know how to play. It would be a good work merely to teach them how to play. But again, speaking from twenty two years' experience of boys in Lon don, no game is enjoyed by them which does not give opportunit; for gambling. They gamble with buttons screws, cherry stones and picture cards from packets of cigarettes. have seen boys playing a real game of 'banker' with these picture cards sitting silently for two hours at a stretch absorbed in the game.' Only a few weeks ago in the same district, the police magistrate made a despairing speech about the lawlessess of boys in the streets. What, he asked, are the schools an! the omes doing? These boys ar one and all on the road to criminal and dle life. At Manchester at the presnt moment a special effort is being nade to stop the gambling of boys of school age in the streets; and at Bradford lately the town council and he education committee have been pecially concerned with some very serious matters connected with the fe of children in the streets, and vith the measures necessary : mod-

Meanwhile, among the more respecable parents, the reaction egainst his life of the streets, and the fear of bad company for their children, is creating another evil. You wi'l someimes hear it said-by the well to do -that the children are as well off in he streets as anywhere, and that it 's coddling and fussing to try to take them out of them. Well, it does not nuch matter what we think-the juestion is, what the parents of these children think, and there can be no loubt whatever that the respectable parents-with us in England, at any c keep their children out of the streets, and that means that they spend a very large portion of their play time cooped up in tenement Sunday and the choir will render the tooms 11 or 12 feet square, with no room for play and a minimum of fresh

Here, then, is our case for reform 3ad influences in the streets, and at can be done? You and we have the remedy at our doors. Use the school wildings. Organize play time!
